

Point of View and Perspective

Name: _____

Date: _____

Grade: Grade 4

Part A: Multiple Choice

Circle the best answer for each question.

1. A narrator says, 'My brother is the meanest kid alive,' but later you see him sharing snacks. What does this tell you about the narrator?

- A) The narrator may be biased and not fully reliable
- B) The brother is lying to the narrator about snacks
- C) The story uses third-person omniscient narration only
- D) Snacks are the main idea of the story today

2. Two passages describe a school fire drill. One says, 'It was thrilling,' and the other says, 'It was terrifying.' What best explains the difference?

- A) The narrators have different perspectives on the same event
- B) The drills happened on totally different days at school
- C) One passage is fiction and the other is nonfiction work
- D) Both narrators are completely unreliable storytellers in school

3. If a story is told by a six-year-old who does not understand a robbery she witnesses, what is the reader's job?

- A) Trust every word the young child says about events
- B) Skip the parts that the child does not understand
- C) Read clues carefully and figure out what really happened
- D) Decide that the story has no real plot at all

4. How would shifting a passage from first person to third-person omniscient most likely change it?

- A) Remove all the dialogue from the scene completely
- B) Change the setting to a brand new place outside
- C) Make the passage shorter automatically without any extra work
- D) Add the thoughts and feelings of more characters

Part B: Fill in the Blank

Write the correct answer on each line.

1. A narrator who twists facts on purpose or by mistake is called an _____ narrator.

2. When a narrator's story does not match the events you see, you should look for _____.

3. Shifting from first person to third-person omniscient lets readers learn many characters' _____.

4. Two narrators can describe one event in opposite ways because each one has a different _____.

Part A: Multiple Choice

Circle the best answer for each question.

1. A narrator says, 'My brother is the meanest kid alive,' but later you see him sharing snacks. What does this tell you about the narrator?

- A) The narrator may be biased and not fully reliable
- B) The brother is lying to the narrator about snacks
- C) The story uses third-person omniscient narration only
- D) Snacks are the main idea of the story today

2. Two passages describe a school fire drill. One says, 'It was thrilling,' and the other says, 'It was terrifying.' What best explains the difference?

- A) The narrators have different perspectives on the same event
- B) The drills happened on totally different days at school
- C) One passage is fiction and the other is nonfiction work
- D) Both narrators are completely unreliable storytellers in school

3. If a story is told by a six-year-old who does not understand a robbery she witnesses, what is the reader's job?

- A) Trust every word the young child says about events
- B) Skip the parts that the child does not understand
- C) Read clues carefully and figure out what really happened
- D) Decide that the story has no real plot at all

4. How would shifting a passage from first person to third-person omniscient most likely change it?

- A) Remove all the dialogue from the scene completely
- B) Change the setting to a brand new place outside
- C) Make the passage shorter automatically without any extra work
- D) Add the thoughts and feelings of more characters

Part B: Fill in the Blank

Write the correct answer on each line.

1. A narrator who twists facts on purpose or by mistake is called an unreliable narrator.
2. When a narrator's story does not match the events you see, you should look for clues .
3. Shifting from first person to third-person omniscient lets readers learn many characters' thoughts .
4. Two narrators can describe one event in opposite ways because each one has a different perspective .